Summer Time

The Dowling family takes a break from their trip to Sun River, Oregon to smile for the camera.

Mackenzie McQuery (1st) and her sister Macartney McQuery (K) enjoy the beaches of Huatulco, Mexico.

Summertime has always been a fun time. How many years ago was this picture taken?

Kelsey Osborne (3rd) and Malia Osborne (1st) take a break from the 'Washington' summer' to visit Hawaii.

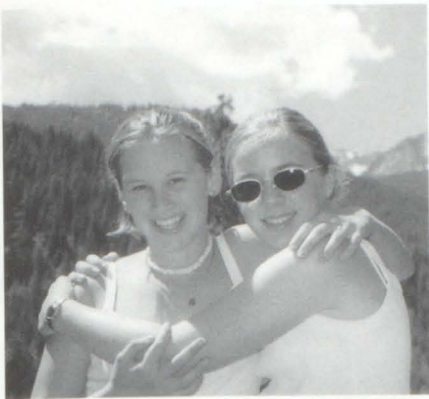

Kelly Shaffer (5th) and Meaghan Shaffer (7th) in Vavey, Switzerland having a one on one chat with Charlie Chaplain.

Summer Time

Erin McNamara (8th) and Ariel Lyon (8th) catch some fun and sun. Sun? I certainly don't remember any.

Alexandra Hansen (4th) and her sister Lindsay Hansen (2nd) at Trafalgar Square, in London.

Peter Edwards (5th) and his buddy Kevin Ball (5th) having a blast at Camp Seymour.

Summer Haag (2nd) and Nick Haag (5th) on vacation.

Nadira Adatia (8th) and her sister Tahira Adatia (6th) and their summer friends.

Brian Anderson (8th), Colin Anderson (4th), and their parents in the Columbia Icefields, Alberta Canada.

The Good Times

The Past, Present, and Yet to Come...

What stories would the halls tell if they could share with those who wander through them daily? Certainly they would not forget the intense studying that students earnestly engaged in. What about all those silly faces and moments of true friendship yet to come? Without a doubt it is certain that the halls of Annie Wright will witness much excitement in the future. As long as there are traditions to continue, students to teach, and memories to make, these halls will remain full of life forever.

LS

In September, the fourth grade set out to Mr. Menke's house.

Field trips start with a fun ride on the bus.

First graders explore the pumpkin patch amid rows of corn stalks.

First graders know how to have fun at NW Trek. Look at those faces!

LS Field Trips

1st graders experience the Puyallup Fair in September.

Field Trips

Lots of LS Fall Fieldtrips

Whether it was checking out the animals at the Puyallup Fair or planting trees in Mr. Menke's backyard, there was a wide range of things to experience this year for those LS students who went on field trips. These were great opportunities to connect with new places and sometimes even bring home a new treasure, like a pumpkin fresh from the patch.

Above: Anniew of the past take in the sun.

4th graders enjoyed the beauty of Mt. St. Helens in September.

Keriann Yamaguchi (8) and Sarah Field (8) demonstrate the dynamics of a pig pile.

Michael Bonazza (7) takes a good look at the world.

Orientation

Excerpts from Camp Arnold

A couple of weeks into the school year, the Middle School had the opportunity to have an enjoyable and bonding experience at Camp Arnold. To get breakfast on the second day, each cabin had to search for their food. It was a blast, even though by the time the boys found their food, it was 12:00. During the day, the MS had fun in the sun wall climbing, swimming, and canoeing. By the end of their stay, everyone agreed that the bond they shared was stronger. "It was a bonding experience for all grades. It made the 8th grade girls feel pretty special to know everybody." Adrienne Ottum (8th)

Jennifer Pan, Micah Wood, Scott Ruggles, Erin McNamara, Malaika Raymond, and Torie Pascoe play in the pool.

The Romprogren sisters take a break on the lake.

US

Right: The Boston trip, during Thanksgiving break, served as a great experience for many students and included visiting colleges, museums, and other historical places.

Sophomores at Camp Arnold focus on being a solid team.

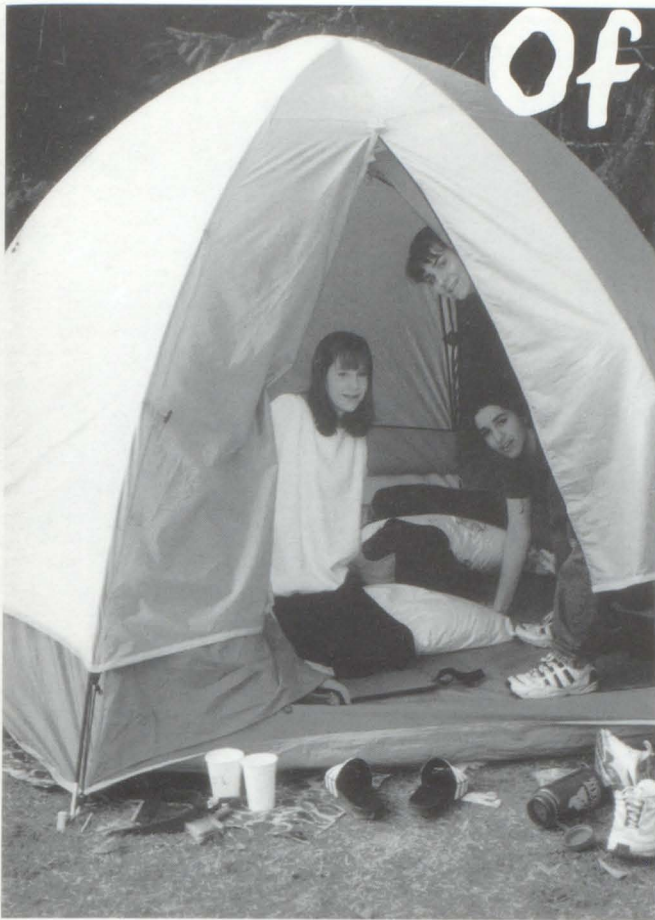

It is commonly known that the best part about camping is the food!

Educational Experiences Away from School

There were many activities to participate in throughout the school year in the US: on Co-curricular day the 9th grade went camping, the 10th grade went on a low ropes course, and the 12th grade tried the high ropes. To their dismay, the 11th graders stayed at AWS and took the PSATs. Better luck next year girls! Other activities included the Boston trip, still educational, but also away from regular academics.

Above: 9th graders smile for the camera after putting up their tent and moving in.

Crazy

Right: Upper School students and faculty all have a great time at orientation.

Below: Middle Schoolers spend their time chatting and bonding.

Above: Seventh Graders Lyndsey Nichols, Sarah Gamble, Lindsey Shelley and Maren Anderson dry off after a dip in the pool.

Even in 1988 students knew how to kick it, demonstrated here by two lower schoolers in the library.

Crazy Time

Time

Left: Middle Schoolers relax and study at the same time. Quite a feat.

Below: Relaxing on the couch is a favorite pastime for students in all grades.

Upper Schoolers Jeane Rosenberg and Amanda Tice dig Halloween.

Lower School students love their art classes, and their teacher.

Party

Anna Mumford (11) and Carolyn Speidel (11) take a break from computer work to chat.

Amanda Fogelberg (7) smiles to herself as she is overcome by an intellectual revelation.

Lauren Morkill (5), Danielle Topping (5), Caitlin McCloskey (5), and Tristen Edwards (5) waiting for chapel.

Cydney Waitley (K) and her father, Mr. Waitley, enjoy games at the Halloween carnival.

Time

Pierson Clair (8), Michael Elford (8), Aidan Haley (7), and Hayden Taylor (7) do renditions of the Backstreet Boys.

Amina Seay (2) peeks out from behind Anastasha Moreno (2).

Ms. Schwartz participates in her favorite childhood past-time.

Selena Soo (12) rounds up Upper School spirit during orientation.

Fun

Becky Martin, Tristen Heath, and Margaret Miller represent the next generation of Annie Wrighters.

Lynne Ng (10th) gives us a first hand glance of her 'Ratched attitude.'

FunTime

Time

Various tenth graders take a break from their second period studyhall.

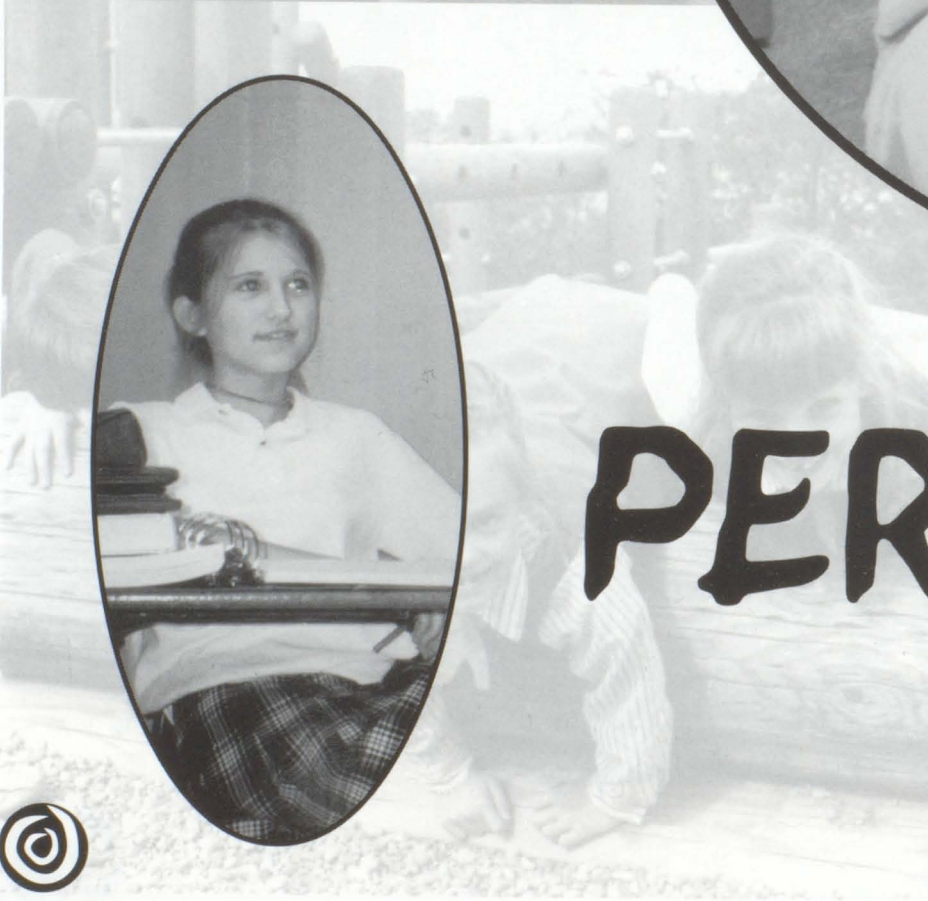

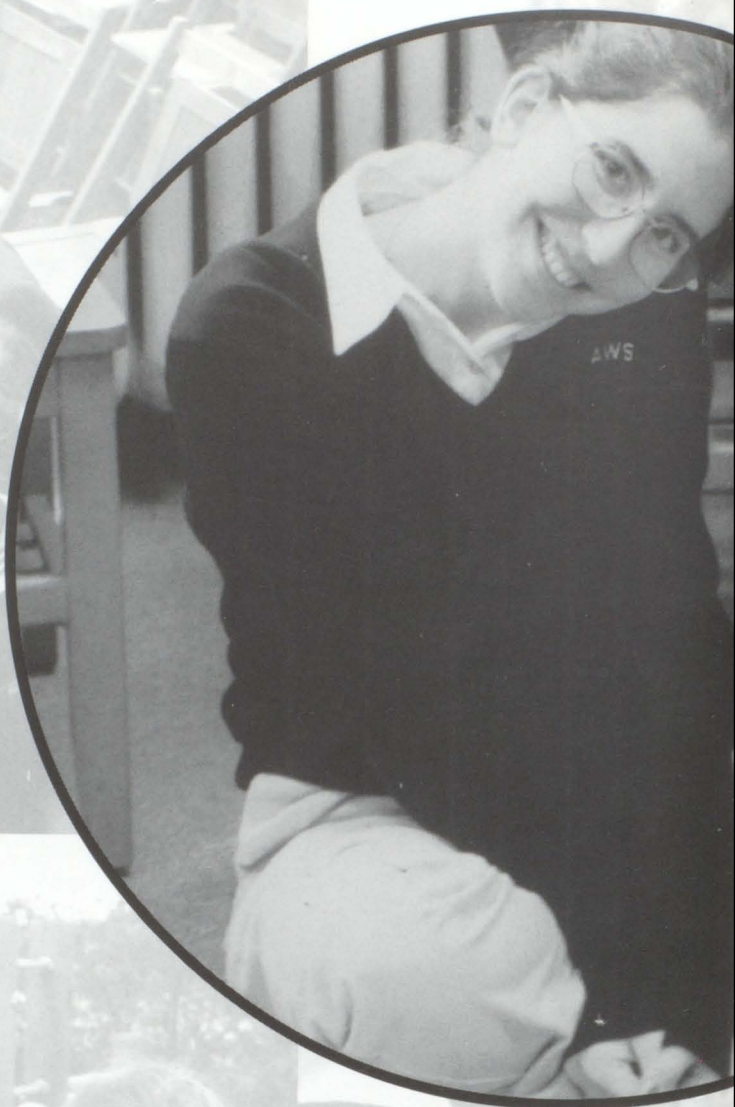

A kick from the 80s.

7th graders Maren Anderson, Lindsey Nichols, and Meaghan Shaffer clean up Wright Park.

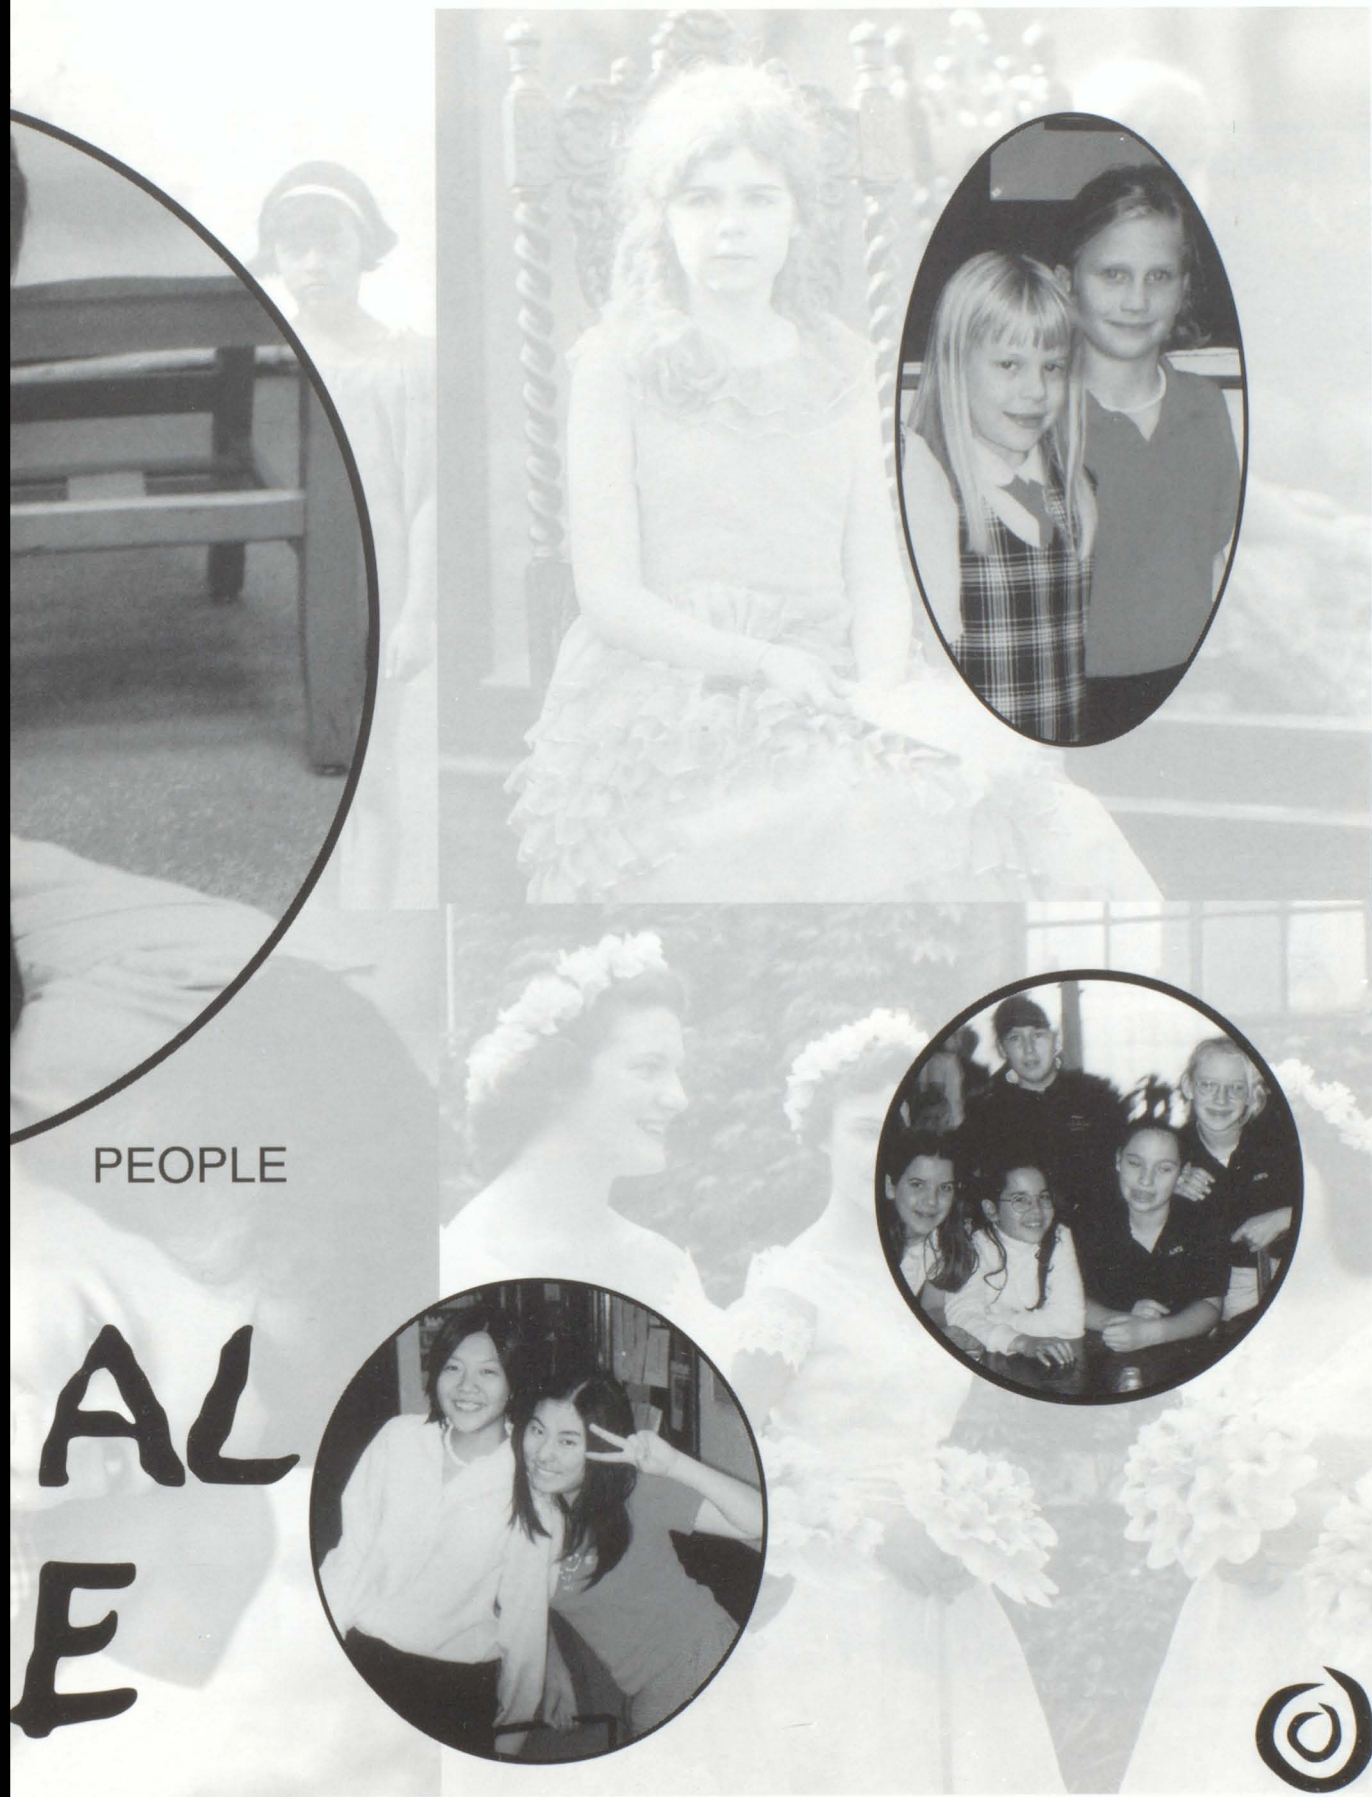

Evan Bird (3rd); student by day, drummer by night.

To my parents (all five of them),
First, mom and dad, during the eighteen years of my life and for the rest of my life, I will never experience love as unconditional as what you two have shown me. You are always a step behind, to catch me when I fall, but also a step in front, to pave an easy road for me, thank you. I love you!

amazing how much love
you have for all of us.
You are my role model and I truly love and admire you from the depths of my heart.

Finally, my fifth parent, Michael.
Yes, you are my brother but yet, another parent!

Sacrifice. That's a word you learned early, because of me. I just hope someday I will be given a chance to do the same for you.

Next, aunt and uncle.
You have always been my second set of parents. Thank you for always treating me like your daughter!

Sue and Jongtae.
My other siblings!
Even if our DNA doesn't prove it, to me you both have been my brother and sister. And Sue- if you ever needed a heart

Day Time!

Nine months out of the year students at Annie Wright Scool parade around the campus in their plaid skirts and polo shirts while taking part in the wonderful world of learning. Gone are the summer days they spent basking on the beach along with the sunny weather to do so. Once again the Annie Wright halls are filled with the many voices of students coming together to make new friends, learn new concepts and broaden their minds. Once again the school comes to life with the discussion, communication and interaction of its many members.

Each day the students focus almost entirely on learning and educating, yet, amidst the many hours of studying done each day, a few minutes are squeezed in to smell the roses, to color with crayons and to smile at the camera.

Nicholas Griot from the seventh grade studies...for something.

After School

After school, we play, do homework, and catch up on what we didn't do during the school day. The Lower School has a blast; pretend lands and castles come to life on the playgrounds while soccer battles rage on the field. The 'Hot Lava Monster,' below the Big Toy, is disturbed and laughing children stay safe on wooden beams and bridges. The Middle Schoolers test the newest technological games. After raiding the US pop and candy machines, they gather in groups to discuss whether or not Percy will date Andy or if Jen's hair is naturally blond. Middle School music is not Disney classics. Instead, the popular beat of DMX, Christina Aguilera, Bush, and Sugar Ray fill the halls. In the Little Gym, anyone can join a pick-up basketball game. The Upper School breathes a sigh of relief as the bell rings. Tutorials occur from 3:15-3:45 and amazingly enough, many people attend. The lounge is a popular spot to watch mind comedy: Pinky and the Brain, The Adventures of Batman and Superman, Hysteria, and Pokemon. The local coffee shop, Ciceros, often feels the brunt of the busy school days. "Umm, I would like 2 mochas, 3 lattes, and oh, while you're at it, why don't you add a tall, triple shot, white chocolate mocha."

The Scoop on Dorm Life

Sixty Annie Wright high school students and several faculty members call the Annie Wright dorm their home. Indeed, dorm life is a central part of the Annie Wright experience. It is a place where friendships grow and where people of various cultures and experiences may interact with and may learn from one another. Selena Soo, a Senior, reflects on her experience in the dorm, "I will never forget those late nights with my firends, cramming for tests, chatting or cooking noodles. It's been a great bonding experience, and I have made friends with people from all over the world."

Individual Sports

Annie Wright offers sports, but some students need more. They break free of the limits of Annie Wright Athletics into a class of his or her own. Many students take up swimming, horseback riding, fencing, soccer, volleyball, and more. Students, along with their class load, take the time to practice the sport they love. For some this dedication is simply a way to relieve stress, for others it's a way of life. No matter the reason for their dedication, the rewards they reap are numerous. While some take Annie Wright's name to state track meets others represent themselves.

MS Soccer

Middle School soccer played hard this year. There were wins and losses, but these did nothing to deflate the spirited and winning attitude shown by the team. The team as a whole discovered and demonstrated many things this season. Soccer is laughter. Soccer is work. Soccer is cheering. Soccer is dirty. Soccer is scoring. Soccer is running. Soccer is fun. But, most importantly, we all learned the bottom line about soccer. It's a kick in the grass.

The AWS Middle School made vast improvement this year. The Varsity demonstrated expertise in tips and punching the ball just over the opposition's blocks. Gator volleyball had a strong season this year, with Varsity finishing one step away from the state tournament. A new varsity coach, Valerie Waitley, brought a fresh focus to the young teams: a return to the basics. Both JV and Varsity honed their skills in passing, serving, setting, and spiking. The team concentrated on working as a team, learning the finer points of the game, and building for a bright future.

Selena Soo completed her fourth year with the team and did well in all of her races. Fiona Hatfield ran for the first time, and although she battled injury, she ran a very strong race. Sarah Furman, one of two new freshman, also did quite well for their first season of running. The team is looking forward to next year with more seasoned runners.

There is nothing better than a great game of softball, where the sun is shining amidst a cloudless sky. The Annie Wright softball team however, trains for all types of weather and shines with fantastic games no matter what. Sure the pants may not be as "fashionable" as tennis skirts, but this team is willing to play hard and get dirty! After all, Coach Rhondi always encourages "good, clean fun." Freedom

Freedom is defined as 'the state of being at liberty rather than confinement under physical constraint'. Freedom is now further defined by millions of men and women all around the world as 'being without dependency on glasses or contact lenses'.

For approximately 25% of the world's population who are nearsighted, farsighted or have astigmatism, Laser in-Situ Keratomileusis (LASIK) could represent the first step that allows them to make lifestyle choices that were not available to them before.

Drs. Leslie P. Fox, and Lawrence J. White, both board certified ophthalmologists, now perform LASIK surgery. To determine if LASIK EYE SURGERY can help reduce or eliminate your dependence on glasses or contact lenses, call Cascade Eye & Skin Centers for a free consultation.

The cornea is opened to gain access to the central tissue.

A precise amount of tissue is removed using the excimer laser.

The cornea is closed without the need for stitches.

Dearest Nadira,

You were once small and now - oh my,
how you've grown. From ABC's to 123's
- You've had great years at AWS LS and MS. May you always have strength, hope and good will in the future,
And for great years in high school.
Congratulations to you, our daughter and sister.

Keep up the good work!

Love you now and forever,

Mom, Dad, and Tahira

Lydia,

You are the most wonderful daughter in the world! Keep up your hard work, beautiful smile, and great sense of humor. Best Wishes in high school.

We love you dearly,
Mom, Dad, and Alex

"Well, if you want to sing out, sing out
And if you want to be free, be free
'Cause there's a million things to be
And if you want to live high, live high
And if you want to live low, live low
'Cause there's a million ways to go
You can do what you want
The opportunity's on
And if you find a new way
You can do it today
You can make it all true
And you can make it undo
It's easy."

Beannacht

on the day when the weight deadens on your shoulders
and you stumble,
may the clay dance
to balance you and when your eyes freeze behind the gray window and the ghost of loss gets in to you,

may a flock of colors,
indigo, red, green and azure blue come awaken in you a meadow of delight.

when the canvas frays
in the curach of thought and a stain of ocean
blackens beneath you, may there come across the waters
a path of pale moonlight to bring you safely home.

may the nourishment of the earth be yours,
may the clarity of light be yours,
may the fluency of the ocean be yours,
may the protection of the ancestors be yours.

and so may a slow
wind work these words
of love around you,
an invisible cloak to mind your life.

-John O'Donohue
